MARKET BURSTING AT THE SEAMS

Pretoria, 31 July 2013. The popular antique and collectors' fair at the Voortrekker Monument will take place on Women's Day, 9 August, from 09:00 until 15:00 on the roof of the large amphitheatre on site.

The fair is bursting at the seams with more and more visitors looking for a bargain. It has a wide variety of collectors' and antique items for sale. These include coins, medals, fine porcelain, semi-precious stones, jewellery, old records, dolls, second hand and new books, old toys, radios, cameras and even old scientific instruments – too many to mention. Stalls at the market are extremely popular and the organisers have a long waiting list for people wanting to sell their wares.

There are food stalls and a restaurant and also some great deli foods. Safe parking is available at only R20 per vehicle. Children may run around and play in a safe environment or take part in a guided horse ride.

Enquiries concerning the antique market may be directed to Geraldine at 012 326 6770 or at marketing@voortrekkermon.org.za.
